President's Palette

Jan Melchert

Welcome back from the summer hiatus. Just like when we kids, it went by awfully quickly. It is difficult to believe that the children are going back to school and the autumn solstice is just around the corner.

A handful of Chaparral Artists held an art class at the Yucca Valley Community Center this summer. They were Bev Schmuckle, Shirley James, Gordon Crawford, Dianne Stroble and I. It was not advertised in advance so the turn out for the class was small, but the budding artists that did attend were very dedicated. They received a lot of one on one attention and instruction in many different media. According to them, they had a wonderful time and are already asking if we will be doing this next year. Hopefully, we will be able to do this again on a much larger scale. You can see some of their work at Roadside Attraction Gallery this month featured in the "Kidz Corner".

It is time to elect new officers. So if anyone is interested or if you have someone in mind for a Board position, we will be accepting nominations at the September Meeting on September 9th at 1:00 p.m. These officers' terms of office will begin on January 1, 2014. And the election will take place at the October meeting. Our hospitality Ladies are retiring from their positions. A heartfelt "thank you" for all your hard work and dedication goes out to you for your years of service. "Thank you Guila Gilmore, June Fingler, Daisy Pirot, and Lois Morrow."

The next show at Roadside Attraction Gallery will be accepting entries on Thursday, September 12th from 4-6 p.m. and Friday, September 13th from 10 a.m. – 12:30 p.m., with the reception for the show on September 15th from 1-3 p.m. The theme of the show will be "Sunny Days". We are attempting to develop themes which give the artist a chance to interpret their ideas of, in this case, "sunny days".

See you at the meeting.

From the Editor

This is the first newsletter I've written since May. I thought that I should let everyone know the reason why.

Last year I began experiencing various minor health problems. Then about a year ago I lost almost half of my hearing in my right ear in a split second. After several months and multiple doctors it was found that I had a brain tumor.

I saw a neurosurgeon who told me that my tumor was benign and was slow growing. He also told me that surgery wasn't a viable option and he recommended proton radiation treatment. I recently spent six weeks driving to Loma Linda University Medical Center five days a week for treatment. Between the drive and radiation I was pretty wiped out; especially toward the end of my treatments.

The radiation was only supposed to stop the tumor from growing so I probably won't regain my hearing and most of my other problems probably won't go away. I'll have another MRI in six months to make sure the tumor hasn't begun growing again. Then I'll have follow ups at periodic intervals.

I want to thank everyone for their prayers and offers of assistance during this stressful time. You have no idea how uplifting this has been.

I especially want to thank Dottie Davis, Nancy Miehle and Nancy Peckenpaugh for their help.

If you have experienced a hearing loss PLEASE see your doctor. It could be caused by something simple like my friend experienced. He suffered with a hearing loss until he went to his doctor and found out that it was from wax buildup.

If your hearing loss is from something more severe it's better to get it treated as soon as possible. In my case, in addition to the hearing loss, the type of tumor that I have can cause nerve damage, loss of taste, and severe headaches among other things if untreated.

I hope YOU had a more enjoyable summer than I had.

Barbara and Bob Matheney

Did you know that Chaparral Artists member Barbara Matheney used to be a professional photographer or that her husband, Bob, used to be heavily involved in the martial arts? This is just a couple of the things that I found out when I spent a few hours visiting with this soft spoken couple in February.

Barbara & Bob Matheney pose with one of Barbara's paintings.

Bob used to be a Publishers Representative. He published magazines, represented publishers and did their marketing. His job entailed a lot of traveling which included places such as Boston, New York, Chicago and New Orleans and since Barbara was a graphic design artist who designed and put magazines together and who worked on a deadline not a nine to five job she could travel with him. They would try to schedule the trips so that they could have the weekends free to visit museums and other places of interest.

Bob represented all kinds of magazines and would have to learn about each one which kept his job interesting. He and Barbara attended all types of conventions. The conventions covered a wide range of subjects which included everything from medical conventions to gun manufacturers. Bob and Barbara both agree that the gun manufactures was the nicest group of people to work with.

Even though Bob was stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii during the Korean War Barbara has never been to Hawaii. After planning several trips; which were cancelled for one reason or another Barbara has decided that it's not meant for her to go to Hawaii.

Barbara and Bob used to spend their Christmas in different places in Arizona and would drive through the Morongo Basin. They probably never thought that they would live in the Morongo Basin.

Barbara is best known for her oil paintings depicting a western theme but she's also painted many other subjects. Barbara paints images from the computer rather than printed images. This allows her to zoom in to see the details better. When I spoke to her and Bob in February she had just finished a portrait that had been commissioned.

Barbara didn't paint for several years but she's more than made up for it in quantity and quality since that time. She has her own "gallery" with her paintings lining the walls and you can also see her work throughout their home.

One of the ways that the Matheneys like to relax is to watch the wildlife in their front yard from their bay window.

Barbara said that they've had a good life. It's been interesting and they got to travel. "One thing interesting about traveling is that no matter where you go you're going to see it in a movie or you're going to see it on television, or you're going to see it in the news and then it's kind of neat to say "My God, Bob we stood right there."

To learn more about Barbara and see more of her artwork you can visit her website at <http://barbarasfineart.net>.

More than just a cookbook

On August 14 Chaparral Artists had a meeting at the home of Nancy Miehle to plan a new cookbook. Those attending were Sonja Arnel, Suzanne Burton, Becky & Hugh Huffman, Shirley James, Ila Lewis, Nancy Miehle, Darlene Morris, Patricia Quandel, Carol Snyder, and Diane Stamm.

It was decided that this book would be more than just a cookbook. There will be a history of Chaparral Artists and two pages will be allocated for each Chaparral Artists member. Submissions are to consist of a recipe, a photograph of one of the artist's works, a picture of the artist, and a short biography (approximately two paragraphs). Members may submit additional recipes that will be used if space is available.

Before the book is sent for printing a contest will be held. Each piece of artwork will be judged by the Cookbook Committee. The entry voted the best will be printed on the front of the book and the artist will receive a free copy of the book.

Members have a few options for making their submissions. They can take their recipes and pictures to the general meeting on September 9, take their submissions to the workshop at Nancy Miehle's house (57604 Sunnyslope in Yucca Valley) on September 11 between 9 and noon or email their submissions to Nancy Miehle at nancy\_miehle@yahoo.com.

There will be a photographer at the general meeting as well as at the workshop to take pictures of artists and their work.

We are also looking for a title for the book. We will ask for suggestions at the general meeting and will take a vote at that time. Here are the title suggestions that we've received so far.

- Anything but a cookbook
- Chaparral Artists cook too
- Everything but a cookbook
- More than just a cookbook

Help us make this book something that everyone will want to have in their home.

Calling All Artists, Performers, & Musicians! Submit newly inspired artwork in the theme of "A Decade of Decadent Delicacies". Who can submit art? Artists, Students, Guests Instructors, Family & Friends, Parents & Anybody Transformed by "A Decade of Decadent Delicacies" at the Creative Center for the past ten years...

Art Submissions are to be newly created, and dropped off at the Creative Center in Twentynine Palms on September 16 – 21. Performance Artists & Musicians call 760 361-1805.

I attended the fund raiser for the Hi-Desert Nature Museum in Yucca Valley on May 11 and I'm happy to say that it appeared to be a success. Among those who had booths were Chaparral Artists members Roberta Blomster, Emilia Frasher, Shirley James, Nancy McHenry, and Nancy Miehle.

I believe that most, if not all, of these ladies donated items for the drawing. Chaparral Artists donated a framed print by founding member Irene Scoggins Bertrand and Barbara Matheney was another member who donated a painting. I got there after the street fair started and I had to leave before it was over so I don't have the names of all of members who made donations.

Calling all artists! Chaparral Artists hosts their annual judged Harvest Art Show in October.

*****

On May 3 'Ragtime' opened at Theatre 29. I believe that this ensemble cast of three dozen contains a large portion of the most talented singers and actors in the Morongo Basin.

Like everyone else I was swept away by the story and time seemed to stand still as the story unfolded.

Usually it's easy to pick out the one or two people who seem to make the play a success but in this play everyone played a huge part in making it succeed. There were a few people who especially touched me. Starting with Leonard Weber as Tateh who helped me see what could happen to an emigrant who arrives in this country to Sadie Johannsson who portrayed Emma Goldman with flair and passion. Then there was Jennifer Paulk as Mother. Finally there was Horace Miller. You could see the passion that he brought to his role. With every word and gesture he brought Coalhouse Walker Jr. to life.

I spoke to Director Charles Harvey during the intermission and congratulated him on wonderful play. He told me to wait until the second half. When I asked if it was better than the first all he said was that I would need a hanky and he was right.

When Adrian Crowell, as Coalhouse Walker III, made his appearance at the end of the play he stole everyone's heart.

Of all of the performances that I've seen, both professional and amateur, I believe that this was one of the best.

I hope you got a chance to see it.

"It's Gonna Be a Scorcher!"— Impressions of Summer Heat will call this gallery home until September 27, 2013.

From Steve Brown at Sun Runner:

"The Sun Runner is preparing for its upcoming Desert Arts Issue (October/November), and is extending an invitation to area writers to submit a piece about a favorite desert artist/artisan, arts event, or another aspect of arts in the desert. It's a great way to promote the arts across the desert. So, if you have someone or an event you'd like to include in our issue, please let me know, and if you can't write it, but you still have an idea you think would be good for the issue, please zap it this way and I'll see what we can do from this end.

"Please keep photos of the art in mind too – the more colorful our stories about artists are, the more exciting the issue will be for our readers. We will fit as much into the print edition as we possibly can, and if there's more than we can include there, we'll add content to our enhanced digital edition. Always include website URLs and any links to videos about the artist/artisan or event so we can link our content in the digital edition to the websites or videos.

"We'll also be looking for cover art for the Desert Arts Issue, so please share that with folks out your way, and we'll have special pricing for artist, studio, gallery, and arts event advertising that issue too. Deadline for the Desert Arts Issue is September 20, but if you plan on contributing anything, please let me know as soon as possible so I can plan the pages in advance.

"As always, you can input your events in our calendar at www.thesunrunner.com anytime day or night for free, and we're always looking for bloggers for our site from across the Southwest, so the invitation is there if you or someone you know, wants to write about the arts, culture, history, lifestyle, or another aspect of life in the desert. It's a great way to connect with our readers, and soon (the TV show launches this fall), with our viewers.

"After the Desert Arts Issue we have our Desert Road Trips Issue, and then to start off our 20th year in print, we'll have our Best of the Southwest 2014 Desert Travel Issue. We'll be taking the two travel issues with us to the LA Travel & Adventure Show (the biggest travel show in the country), for our seventh time. We love promoting desert travel, and we welcome your participation with us to promote the beauty, talent, and vitality of the Southwest."
